Poetry of Bei Dao -- Chinese and English

The sun sets, it is a moment of peace, not a muscle moves. The wind blows softly against my face, The shade cast by the tree cools my heart. The ocean waves relax the tension within,

16 Beautiful Poems about the Sky - Poetry In Nature

"If the stars should appear one night in a thousand years, how would men believe and adore; and preserve for many generations the remembrance of the city of God which had been shown! But every night come out these envoys of beauty, and light the universe with their admonishing smile." — Ralph Waldo Emerson, Nature and Selected Essays

Look at the beauty in her eyes, a glow that shines like the sunrise. Her smile opens up the cloudy skies, her laughter delights butterflies. The ocean greets her as she passes by.

Her Beauty, What She Is To Me, Romantic Poem

From the hushed and simmering to the nearly operatic, these poems burn bright as the cardinal that 'looked / nuclear at a distance.' They refuse to turn away from the totalizing responsibility we have toward one another: how it undoes us, how it saves us, how it goes on."
